This is a particularly exciting time to be at an International Studies Association conference on Asia and held in Asia. This is the 3rd ISA Asia-Pacific Regional Conference since the Asia-Pacific was incorporated as a region within the association in 2008. This year in Singapore is the first ISA Asia-Pacific Regional Conference since South Asia was included as part of the Asia-Pacific Region within the association in 2018. This conference provides scholars and practitioners with a forum to debate and discuss their new ideas and ongoing research projects, and for those in the Asia-Pacific, in a place closer to home.

While there are conventional militarized interstate disputes and great power rivalry still in play, a plethora of diplomatic, developmental and non-traditional security issues have emerged on the research agenda. China’s Belt and Road Initiative looms exceptionally large in dominating nearly one third of the panels. Tensions on the Korean Peninsula and South China Sea also call for new attempts by scholars to think out of the box. ASEAN’s ‘centrality’ remains a perennial favourite of researchers attempting to define the modus operandi of minimalist conceptions of international society. We are happy to see feminist approaches, environmental politics and humanitarian affairs steadily making inroads into the IR field of the Indo- and Asia-Pacific. In addition, this conference has included several well organized comparative politics/policy panels that explore particular Asian countries in depth from Timor Leste to India, Myanmar and Japan. As conference organizers, we welcome you all and look forward to your excellent presentations!

This conference programme includes some handy hints and useful tips for Singapore as well as some key conference statistics that will provide further insights into the make-up of the conference. We would like to thank all our sponsors for their interest in supporting our conference and its aim to support early career researchers from within the Asia-Pacific. It is our hope that the conversations that occur both within and outside the panel sessions will provide food-for-thought and opportunities to explore research opportunities together as we try to make sense about the world around us. For the next three days, engage in debates and be sure to save some time to venture into new research areas. We wish you all a successful ISA Asia-Pacific Regional Conference 2019!

Alistair Cook Coordinator of Humanitarian Assistance and Disaster Relief Programme and Research Fellow, NTS Centre, S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore, specialising in humanitarian affairs, foreign policy and internal conflicts in the Asia-Pacific (particularly ASEAN and Myanmar)

Alan Chong Associate Professor, Acting Head, Centre for Multilateralism Studies, S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore, specializing in Southeast Asian politics and foreign policies, and the nexus between international relations theorizing and international communication.

Kei Koga Assistant Professor in Public Policy & Global Affairs Programme, School of Social Sciences, Nanyang Technological University, specializing in international relations, international security, and international institutions, particularly focusing on Indo-Pacific, East Asia, ASEAN, and Japan.

Wu Fengshi Associate Professor in Political Science and International Relations, University of New South Wales, starting November 2019, specializes in global environmental politics and comparative politics in Asia (particularly mainland China and East Asian societies).

I am pleased to welcome you all to the ISA Asia-Pacific regional conference in Singapore, July 4-6, 2019. The organizers have done a tremendous job bringing together scholars from the region and around the globe to focus on a timely theme. The theme “Asia-Pacific and World Order: Security, Economics, Identity and Beyond” enables scholars to examine factors associated with the short and long run dynamics of global order in the region that is likely to witness important forms of contestation between major global actors in the coming years. These dynamics have important implications for international relations theory and practice, which makes this conference critical to the development of our scholarship. A quick examination of the program finds over 100 panels and roundtables with nearly 600 participants representing the intellectual breadth that is characteristic of ISA. Professional development activities like the roundtable on “Empowering Early-Career Female IR Scholars in the Asia-Pacific” ensure our ongoing institutional commitment to diversity, and several panels on teaching and learning add a pedagogical dimension to an already substantial program.

We at ISA want to thank the program chairs, Alan Chong, Alistair D. B. Cook, Wu Fengshi, and Kei Koga for assembling such a stimulating set of panels and roundtables. We would also like to thank Nanyang Technological University for their support in hosting this conference.

I look forward to meeting many of you at what looks to be an exciting meeting!

Cameron G. Thies
ISA President, 2019-20
Dear ISA Asia-Pacific Participants,

Let me first welcome all of you to Singapore, and to NTU!

It is a great pleasure for us at NTU to host the International Studies Association Asia-Pacific Regional Conference. NTU is a research-intensive technological university with a strong focus on the humanities and social sciences. We are proud to be ranked 11th globally in the latest iteration (2019) of the Quacquarelli Symonds (QS) global league table of top universities, making us the top university in Singapore and in Asia. We are equally proud of our lush campus grounds, frequently listed among the Top 15 most beautiful university campuses in the world. Our campus contains 57 Green Mark-certified equivalent to LEED-certified) buildings, of which 54 are certified Green Mark Platinum.

At NTU, ISA Asia-Pacific 2019 is jointly hosted by the College of Humanities, Arts, and Social Sciences (CoHASS) and the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS). Established in and home to more than 5000 undergraduate and graduate students, CoHASS comprises four schools: School of Social Sciences, School of Humanities, School of Art, Design, and Media, and the Wee Kim Wee School of Communications and Information. Founded as the Institute of Defence and Strategic Studies (IDSS) in 1996 and renamed in 2006, RSIS has established itself as a premier think tank and professional school of international affairs in the Asia-Pacific region today.

As part of our contribution to knowledge generation, NTU faculty and research have been actively engaged in the professional activities of international studies including the International Studies Association. It is our pleasure as a young research-intensive university to bring the International Studies Association’s Asia-Pacific Regional Conference to Singapore where scholars of international studies can convene to debate the pressing issues of today.

There is no gainsaying that we live in an age of disruption and uncertainty. Great power competition is intensifying into discomforting rivalry. The so-called global rules-based order that we have come to be familiar with and accept is coming under strain from impulses of revisionism, unilateralism, and nationalism. Needless to say, this state of affairs has thrown up a host of issues, for which we are gathered here over the next few days to discuss and dissect.

I wish you all a successful conference and please make sure to use this opportunity to share ideas and meet at least a few new colleagues. It is in times like these that the next research grant or project find their feet and start walking. In our time of global uncertainty, opportunities like these to discuss alternative viewpoints are all the more important and NTU is proud to provide the space for this to take place.

Enjoy the conference and do take some time to enjoy wider Singapore to enjoy the sights, sounds and tastes in the heart of Southeast Asia!

Professor Joseph Chinyong Liow
Dean, CoHASS
Research Advisor and former Dean, RSIS
Welcome to Singapore and the International Studies Association’s Asia-Pacific Regional Conference 2019. At the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS) we are committed to investigating the many challenges we face today. This conference on the Asia-Pacific and World Order provides us with fertile ground to engage in robust exchange to garner alternative perspectives and provide us with greater insight and understanding of what makes the world tick. RSIS may be young but it has a proud history of scholarly work and fulfilling our motto: Ponder the Improbable.

RSIS was inaugurated on 1 January 2007. We originally started as the Institute of Defence and Strategic Studies (IDSS) that was established on 30 July 1996 as an autonomous think tank and graduate school in Nanyang Technological University (NTU). We teach postgraduate programmes in Asian Studies, International Political Economy, International Relations, and Strategic Studies. We also teach a Double Masters Programme with the University of Warwick, where students spend the first year at Warwick and the second year at RSIS. The School also has a select PhD programme for advanced students. To date, students from 66 countries have passed through the portals of RSIS.

Besides providing a professional graduate education, RSIS conducts research in security studies, defence studies, diplomacy and international affairs. We organise lectures, conferences and seminars that are aimed at helping policymakers to develop comprehensive approaches to strategic thinking. Our network with universities and think tanks all over the world is extensive, including membership of the Council of Councils established by the U.S.-based Council on Foreign Relations.

We hope that this conference will be a important avenue for intellectual exchange and provide a forum to meet others in the pursuit of knowledge. It also offers a time and space for you to enjoy what Singapore has to offer, so use this opportunity to venture beyond the panel sessions and roundtables to experience what Singapore has to offer from Gardens by the Bay to the National Gallery of Singapore.

Our faculty and research staff will be engaged throughout the conference, so do extend a hand to them for some local tips and explore the next research opportunity.

TRaNS: Trans-Regional and National Studies of Southeast Asia

Our Goals:

- TRaNS invites submissions in the social sciences and humanities that embrace transnational, regional, world, and comparative perspectives. We also invite case studies spanning two or more Southeast Asian countries and those drawing connections between Southeast Asia and other regions.
- TRaNS encourages globally engaged writings on Southeast Asia that cross national borders and disciplinary boundaries.
- TRaNS began publication in 2013 and appears twice a year (January and June).
- TRaNS is produced by the Institute for East Asian Studies at Sogang University (SIEAS) and we are supported by the SK SUPEX fund of Sogang University and the National Research Foundation of Korea.

For information on submitting papers, please email:
journal@sogang.ac.kr or

TRANS EDITORIAL BOARD

As TRaNS enters its fifth year, it is abundantly clear that it has more than fulfilled its great initial promise. The quality of the articles, their theoretical and empirical sophistication make this journal an inestimable contribution to our knowledge of Southeast Asia.

ABOUT CIRS
Established in 2005, the Center for International and Regional Studies (CIRS) at Georgetown University in Qatar is a premier research institute devoted to the academic study of regional and international issues through dialogue and exchange of ideas, research and scholarship, and engagement with scholars, opinion makers, practitioners, and activists.

A SELECTION OF CIRS RESEARCH ON ASIA

CIRS provides analytical studies of the relationship between Asia and the Middle East through the lenses of international security, energy, and economics, as well as broader engagements in the social and cultural spheres.

Re-Emerging West Asia
In line with West Asia re-emerging as an area of geostrategic significance, CIRS launched this research initiative to provide further insight into the complex relationships and connections between the states of West Asia in geographic, political, and sociocultural terms.

China and the Middle East
This research project examines the unfolding relationship between China and the Middle East using a multidisciplinary lens. It provides an analytical study of the relationship between China and the countries of the Middle East, not only through the lenses of international security, energy, economics and investments, but also taking into account China’s broader engagements with the region in the social and cultural spheres.

Nation-Building in Central Asia
This research initiative examines some of the central questions relating to nation-building processes as they have unfolded in Central Asia, focusing on how the states in that region have navigated their early dilemmas, what their path towards nation-building over the past thirty years has been like, and what the consequences for particular strategies adopted for the different states have been.

Weather

Singapore is located just above the Equator. The tropical climate tends to be hot and humid, often interspersed with sudden relief rain induced by the heat and vapourization of water from the sea and land. It is best to keep a small umbrella handy whenever one is going outdoors. In contrast, most shopping malls, hotels, offices and convention places are air-conditioned to approximately 20-24 degrees Celsius. For some persons, the extremes of hot and cold experienced during the day and night may induce the onset of flu, coughs and common colds. Hence the best health precaution is to drink lots of water throughout the day.

Infectious Tropical Diseases

Singapore is currently (i.e. May through July 2019) in the midst of several localized outbreaks of mosquito-borne diseases. Dengue Fever and Chikungunya are the most common types. These diseases are quite common in tropical countries but they have infected people more frequently due to climate change. Extremes of hot and cool, wet conditions in a single day, or spread over several days tend to precipitate the accumulation of stagnant water in open spaces, drains and even crevices within homes. These pools of water easily breed mosquitoes within two to three days if they are left uncleared.

The symptoms of Dengue Fever and Chikungunya are quite similar. After being bitten by an infected mosquito, severe joint pain, fever, rash and overall extreme lethargy are the standard symptoms that appear after 3-7 days. Constant nausea, vomiting and pain behind the eyes will usually follow. Contact a healthcare professional immediately if you experience any of these symptoms. If you are staying in a hotel/hostel/visitor’s lodge/AirBnB, your concierge, receptionist or host can help you get medical attention. Ambulances are usually available in emergencies, or doctors on call.

The Ministry of Health in Singapore has responded to several pandemic outbreaks such as the H1N1 and Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome (SARS) in 2009 and 2003 respectively. As a result, it has a four level graduated public health warning system as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Colour</th>
<th>Nature of Disease</th>
<th>Impact on Daily Life</th>
<th>Advice to Public</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| Green  | Disease is mild   | Minimal disruption e.g. border screening, travel advice | • Be socially responsible: if you are sick, stay home
• Maintain good personal hygiene
• Look out for health advisories |
| Yellow | Disease is severe but does not spread easily from person to person (e.g. MERS, H7N9) | Minimal disruption e.g. additional measures at border and/or healthcare settings expected, higher work and school absenteeism likely | • Be socially responsible: if you are sick, stay home
• Maintain good personal hygiene
• Look out for health advisories |
| Orange | Disease is severe spreads easily from person to person but is occurring outside Singapore (a) typically mild i.e. only slightly more severe than seasonal influenza. Could be severe in vulnerable groups (e.g. H1N1 pandemic) OR (b) being contained | Moderate disruption e.g. quarantine, temperature screening, visitor restrictions at hospitals | • Be socially responsible: if you are sick, stay home
• Maintain good personal hygiene
• Look out for health advisories
• Comply with control measures |
| Red    | Disease is severe AND is spreading widely | Major disruption e.g. school closures, work from home orders, significant number of deaths | • Be socially responsible: if you are sick, stay home
• Maintain good personal hygiene
• Look out for health advisories
• Comply with control measures
• Practise social distancing: avoid crowded areas |
The above information has been summarized from the Ministry of Health and assorted visitor travel advisory websites. It only offers basic warnings. For more detailed information, visit the Singapore Ministry of Health website for more information at: https://www.moh.gov.sg/diseases-updates. The latest disease statistics at the time of the printing of this programme can be read here: https://www.moh.gov.sg/docs/librariesprovider5/diseases-updates/2019_week_23.pdf.

A detailed personal health advisory from the Ministry can be found here: https://www.moh.gov.sg/admin.cwp.sg/docs/librariesprovider5/default-document-library/general-health-advisory-for-travelling-nov-2018.pdf. Since the 2003 SARS pandemic, many Singaporeans have adopted the culture found in many developed countries of wearing basic surgical masks to avoid droplet infection while travelling in public or at work.

Drinking Water

It is perfectly safe to drink water straight from the tap in Singapore. It comes from (a) reservoirs, (b) desalination, and (c) a complex, patented recycling system known as NEWATER. A fourth source is the import of water from neighbouring Malaysia. The quality of Singapore’s water supply has previously garnered accolades from the World Health Organization and other United Nations’ agencies. However, for those who prefer bottled mineral water, local supermarkets and grocers always have ample stocks.

Other Useful Emergency Numbers

The following emergency telephone numbers have been reprinted from a standard website addressing omnibus geriatric care and patient needs (https://seniorcare.com.sg/singapore-emergency-phone-number-ambulance-police/)

Singapore Police Force

- Emergency Hotline: 999
- Emergency SMS: 71999
- SMS for (Registered DHS Users – Deaf, Hard of Hearing Services): 70999
- (Non Emergency) Hotline (For Crime Related Information): 1800 255 0000
- Traffic Police Information Hotline: 6547 0000

Fire / SCDF (Singapore Civil Defence Force)

- Emergency Hotline: 955

These emergency services can also be contacted via FACEBOOK and TWITTER through a generic search. The faster options tend to be the hotlines or SMS.

Time zone

GMT/UTC+8

Electricity

220 - 240V

Wi-Fi & Connectivity

There are plenty of easy ways to stay in touch and get connected to your friends and loved ones while you are in Singapore.

Prepaid SIM card

If you wish to continue making calls and sending messages on your mobile phone, a good option will be to purchase a Singapore prepaid SIM card. All three local telcos - M1, Singtel and Starhub - offer a wide variety of packages, so take a little time to decide which plan best suits your needs. You can choose from bundles for local and international calls and SMSes and select varying amounts of local mobile data. Durations typically range from five to thirty or more days.

Prepaid SIM cards are easily purchased at the telcos’ retail counters and convenience stores like 7-Eleven and Cheers through the island, as well as at Singapore Changi Airport at Changi Recommends, currency exchange and telcos’ retail counters. You will have to produce your passport for registration when purchasing a prepaid SIM card.

Pocket Wi-Fi

You can also choose to connect to the Internet from multiple devices with a pocket Wi-Fi device. This is simply a mobile hotspot that provides data access via the cellphone network for your laptop, tablet and/or smartphone wherever you go in Singapore.

This is recommended if you carry a few devices, desire Wi-Fi connectivity and do not intend to make many phone calls. Pocket Wi-Fi devices are available for rental at the Changi Recommends counters at the Singapore Changi Airport, and you can conveniently drop off the devices at the Changi Recommends counters just before your return flight. There are other pocket Wi-Fi rental companies available in Singapore, and if you prefer to search and pre-register online, these companies offer easy delivery and return of the pocket Wi-Fi device to and from your hotel.

Free Public Wi-Fi

Wi-Fi hotspots are also widely available at various public areas in Singapore. Here are some options.

Wireless@SG

This is a free public Wi-Fi service across Singapore, with hotspots available at many locations, including malls, museums, public libraries, community centres, MRT stations, Changi Airport and Sentosa island. An updated list of hotspot coverage is available here. You can also look out for the Wireless@SG decal on display wherever this network is available, as well as the SSID Wireless@SG on your device. To get connected, register for an account with your foreign mobile number at any Wireless@SG hotspot and you will receive your login details via an SMS message. Overseas charges may apply.

Changi Airport

Free Wi-Fi service is available in the transit areas of Changi Airport with #WiFi@Changi. Find out more here.

Shopping Malls

Free Wi-Fi service is offered and available for login at some shopping malls, restaurants and cafes in Singapore. This service is usually displayed prominently for customers but do feel free to enquire directly or at the malls’ information counters for Wi-Fi access.

2G Networks

From 1 April 2017, all three telcos in Singapore – M1, Singtel and Starhub – have ceased the provision of the 2G network in Singapore. Visitors are advised to bring along a 3G or 4G enabled mobile device when visiting Singapore. If your existing operator does not support 3G or 4G roaming, you can purchase a prepaid SIM card on arrival so you can be instantly connected.

Getting Around Singapore

Traveling by Mass Transit

You can easily travel around Singapore by mass transit on the MRT/LRT public transit system - the NTU One-North campus is approximately a 7 minute walk from One North MRT station on the Circle Line, and approximately a 12 minute walk from Buona Vista MRT interchange station on the East West Line and the Circle Line.
You can pay your MRT/LRT/bus fare with cash or with a stored value card, and you can purchase a stored value card at any Ticket Office or Passenger Service Centre. Topping up your card can be done via:

- General Ticketing Machines
- Add Value Machine Plus
- TransitLink Ticket Office
- AXS Stations
- DBS/POSB/OCBC Automatic Teller Machines
- 7-Eleven stores
- SingPost outlets
- Singapore Tourist Pass

You can also buy a Singapore Tourist Pass, a special EZ-Link stored-value card for unlimited travel between one and three days. For more information and to purchase the Tourist Pass, please visit the website.

For more information and links to mobile apps to get more information, please visit the Land Transport Authority: https://www.lta.gov.sg/content/ltaweb/en/public-transport.html.

Taxis and Ride Hailing Services

The main taxi companies are COMFORT DELGRO, SMRT TAXIS, PREMIER TAXIS and SmartCab. All taxis are metered and no haggling is allowed by law. For those of you who prefer to use ride-hailing applications through your mobile phones, the following are widely available: GRAB, GOJEK, TADA, KARDI and RYDE. Just download the application after you switch on your mobile phone upon arrival in Singapore. While popular and reasonably well regulated, ride hailing transportation services are occasionally unreliable during certain times of the day. Also, they suffer from something known as ‘surge pricing’ during peak periods of service demand.

Currency

The Singapore dollar (SGD, known on the street as the “sing-dollar”) is Singapore’s official unit of currency. Paper notes are denominated in $2, $5, $10, and $50 (less commonly seen are $100, $500, $1,000 and $10,000 bills). Coins come in 5 cents, 10 cents, 20 cents, 50 cents and $1 denominations.

Cash or Card?

For many larger retail outlets, they will take most credit cards. It varies significantly when purchasing in smaller retail outlets so it is advisable to check with individual retailer.

For many hawker centres (local eateries), it is best to take cash with you as they are unlikely to have credit card facilities available.

For taxis, as a general rule there is a 10% administration fee on all credit card payments. Please check with individual taxi driver as some taxi companies do not take credit cards.

ISA Asia-Pacific Organizers’ Contact Details

If you need assistance and other advice not covered in the above categories, kindly seek help at the Registration Desks at the conference venue, NTU One-North. The student volunteers have been well briefed. And usually one of the four programme co-chairs can be easily contacted by these volunteers on-site.
The Rose: Media Art Nexus @ NTU
"The Rose" uses six different recordings of Claude Debussy's Clair de Lune to create an audio reactive painting (M. Chavez and I. Conradi, School of Art, Design and Media, NTU)

Young and research-intensive, Nanyang Technological University (NTU Singapore) is ranked 12th globally. It is also placed 1st among the world’s best young universities.
